LPD Receives Funding For Body Armor And Patrol Rifles

By Ted Cox
tcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Lancaster Police officers will be better protected in the field following funding from the state Law Enforcement Protection Program (LEPP). The city of Lancaster has been awarded $12,250 from the state LEPP to purchase body armor vests and patrol rifles for its police department, Governor Steve Beshear announced last Friday. The department will receive eight sets of body armor and 10 patrol rifles. “These are AR-15s made in Winchester. We try to keep this money in the state,” Police Chief Rodney Kidd said. “This means that we don’t have to use city-taxpayer money to pay for these items. They are bought with funds from confiscated weapons throughout the state. The

Shots Fired Result In Attempted Murder Charges

Weapon Not Found

By Pattie Cox

Although several shots were fired, a shooting that police are calling an attempted murder, did not injure anyone. The suspects however remain incarcerated since the incident occurred late last Tuesday night. Elizabeth (Janie) Barnes, 43, 402 Southway Drive, the same person charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and receiving more than $10,000 in stolen prop-with attempted murder, possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcoholic beverages and driving on a DUI suspended operator’s license. Coleman’s bond is listed as $75,000 in cash while Barnes’ bond is holding at $100,000, due to her other legal problems. According to the arresting officer, Garrard County Deputy Sheriff Tevis Graham, Barnes and Coleman drove to the home of Garnet Martin, 3969 Mount Hebron Road. While parked in the driveway of Martin’s home, Coleman got into an argument with Josh Lancaster, a resident in Martin’s home at the time. Shots were fired at point-blank range, Lancaster allegedly told Graham, but none landed in the intended target due to the fact that Martin was impeding the progress by holding Coleman’s hands as he fired the weapon. Apparently Martin and Barnes had been inside the home when they heard a couple of pops and went outside. That’s when Martin attempted to stop Coleman, Graham said. But when police arrived Barnes and Coleman had fled. Because four witnesses told the officers what had occurred and identified the suspects, Graham and two Kentucky State Police troopers drove to Barnes’ home where they waited for the two to return home.

Active Meth Lab Found In Daughter’s Park

By Pattie Cox
pcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Serving warrants in a north-end Garrard community turned out to be much more when Garrard County Deputy Sheriff Brandon Conley, along with probation and parole officers, discovered an active meth lab in the home of Mitchell Surber, 42, and his wife, Katrina Surber, 43, 4787 Kennedy Bridge Road. “T h e y were cooking [meth] as we came in,” Conley said. Katrina Surber answered the door about 11:30 last Wednesday morning. Due to the importance of officer safety, a sweep of the house was made revealing the meth lab located in the back bathroom and Mitchell Surber who exited the back bedroom as the officers were entering, according to the police report.

Police found items used to manufacture the highly toxic illegal drug, including coleman fuel, lithium batteries, pseudoephedrine packets, coffee filters and red dye along with two pipes allegedly used to smoke the substance. The find was not really a surprise though, Conley said. Complaints had been coming in that the occupants of the mobile home situated on

Montgomery Sworn In As County Clerk

By Ted Cox

It was a storybook moment in the life of Kevin Montgomery on Tuesday morning as he stood in front of friends and family and was sworn in as Garrard County Court Clerk. “I don’t know why I am getting so emotional,” Montgomery told the crowd just after being sworn in as he tried to keep his composure. “I am humbled and honored by this position. I thank everyone here. I thank my co-workers, Stacy May for hiring me six years ago, if not for her I wouldn’t be here.” Montgomery takes the reins of the Clerk’s office following May’s retirement, which she announced last month. May had served the people of Garrard County as their clerk since being voted into the position in 2002. “Sometimes we open doors in our lives and we may not know what those doors have for us,” Montgomery said. “But if we have faith... Those doors may not be the ones we would choose ourselves but ultimately the door you should have opened.” Montgomery will be appointed to fill the role of county clerk until the end of May’s current term, which would have ended December 2014. At that time he will have to go before the electorate to hold the position. “I know I’ll be leaving it in good hands,” May said. “I trust his abilities tremendously.” Montgomery thanked his colleagues and those who set an example on how the position he now holds should be handled, including May and long-time Garrard Clerk Shelton Moss. “Stacy had said that she felt like it was God’s will for her to retire and I honestly feel like this is what God has led me to do,” Montgomery added. “I love people. I love meeting people. I just want to do the best job that I can do. I’m not going to make any promises or try to be a slick politician, everyone knows who I am and I will do the best I can.” Montgomery passed spotlight over to his deputy clerks. “And this is not about me, it is we,” he said. “The team that we have can serve the people of Garrard County and I know that we can be successful. If I can follow the blueprint that Stacy and Shelton have laid down for us then I know we can have a successful office.” Montgomery is a lifelong Garrard resident, living in Bryantsville. He is married with two children, Isaac and

String Of Break-Ins Throughout Lancaster Over Labor Day Weekend

By Ted Cox

Lancaster Police are investigating several break-ins which occurred early on over the holiday weekend. On Friday night, sometime after the local homecoming football game, thieves forced entry to Hasty’s Grocery, again taking cigarettes and lighters. The spree continued with break-ins to Don’s Marathon, in a failed attempt to gain entry to Golden Nugget Pawn Shop, Lancaster Produce and Carter Printing, where several items were taken. Mick Questions Progress On Water Plant

Questions from Councilmember Maggie Mick in regard to the status of the new water plant brought the subject to the forefront during Monday night’s regular monthly city-council meeting. But with engineering firms currently discussing data before any concrete decisions are made, a meeting planned to present findings from an independent water study done by Salt Engineering was still not scheduled. With Garrard County Water Association, the city’s largest water purchaser, making it clear that they were not interested in a long-term agreement with the city, proceeding with plans to build a much-needed new water plant have been halted until that process is complete. “We have a little time,” Water Plant Supervisor Troy Deshon said.

POINTS EAST By Ike Adams

Last Saturday morning, right at the crack of dawn, I first thought that I was dreaming because I would have sworn that roosters were crowing and that they were under the window on my front porch. And then I thought that I was dreaming when I heard Loretta yelling, “Shooooo, shooooo, shooooo! Get out of here!” And she was using a broom handle to beat on the side of a five gallon bucket to make a racket as she screamed at the chickens and tried to scare them away.

As dreams go, this one was not particularly alarming. To the contrary, I found it rather amusing and I commenced laughing until I felt a violent shaking of my shoulders and gouging in my ribs so I opened my eyes to find my wife, in her night gown, red-faced and lividly screaming at me to wake up and get my behind out of bed and do something!

Actually, Loretta used the three letter version of behind but I understand that my column is now required reading by sixth graders somewhere in Harlan County. I just wish that I could see the teacher’s face when he or she is asked by a student to name a three letter word for “behind”. In the meantime, I have stopped cussing in the column because heaven knows that I would never encourage innocent children to say a bad word that might get them sent to the principal’s office. But I’d still love to see a teacher squirm out of this dilemma.

Anyway, back to the wake-up call wherein my wife was demanding to know where I kept my firecrackers hidden. I suddenly envisioned her lighting a fire cracker, tossing it on the lawn and watching a rooster run up to grab it, whereupon its beak would be blown off. I guarantee that would be one chicken that shut up in a hurry.

Of course I resumed laughing as the roosters continued to crow as fast as they could catch their breath. And, to give Loretta credit, it did sound like a sizable flock of roosters and they were, in fact, crowing loud enough to wake the dead. Our cat was sitting at the foot of the bed hissing with her tailed raised and every hair on her back stuck straight up and every dog in the neighborhood, including ours, was barking and growling like they were ready for a major fight. I doubt that anybody on Lowell Branch was sleeping through the uproar and I suspect that most of them were as highly peeved as Loretta. (You kids might want to ask you teacher to come up with a six letter word, beginning with “p” for “peeved”.)

I grumbled, crawled out of bed and stumbled to the foyer to find Loretta going through cabinet drawers in the stairwell searching for firecrackers. I grabbed a pack and walked out on the porch to find two little feather legged/feather footed roosters, too big to be called bantams but too small to be considered serious chickens, crowing at the top of their lungs as though they were trying to outdo each other. Only two of them were making all that clamor and I immediately began thinking blue ribbon at the 2013 State Fair crowing contest.

I lit the fuse and tossed the pack of crackers within two feet or less of the birds. It sounded like machine gun fire for a few seconds. Big sparks flew and smoke billowed. The dogs hushed as though they’d been turned off with the flip of a switch. The roosters skittered about five feet away from the smoke, cocked their heads sideways and appeared to be curious for a few moments before resuming their ritual. Our cat is still missing. She’ll probably figure out a way to untangle herself from the box springs when she gets hungry enough.

Loretta’s mouth dropped open and I could see whites completely circling her eyes. That may have been the first time in my life that I have ever seen her rendered completely speechless. By 9:00 she had called all our neighbors up and down the road only to find that nobody was missing any chickens. So they wandered about the yard and garden all day and that evening she pointed out to me that they had “gone to roost” under the big forsythia jungle in our front yard.

I told her that would fix them. I honestly figured a possum, fox or a pack of coyotes would dine on them before the night was over. But that was four days ago and Loretta has been highly peeved-off before 6:00 AM every morning.

Last night I glanced over to check out her bed-time reading and she had one of those tree-hugger, homesteading, how-to books open to the chapter that deals with slaughtering fowl. Tonight I fully expect her to be looking up recipes for chicken and dumplings.

If you are missing two roosters with “grand champion ribbon” written all over them, you’d better get to Charlie Brown Road in a hurry while there’s still time to save them

Same Old Waste

When you get your tax bill in October
And wonder why the school tax is high
Just take a look on ball game night
And you'll see one big reason why.

They turn on light that we don't need
Not worrying about the cost
Guess it just doesn't bother them
To see all the taxpayer money lost.

It would be bad enough later on
But they turn them on too soon
I don't believe they are needed
At five o'clock in the afternoon.

I phoned the school board chairman
About the waste last year
Didn't take very long at all
To see that he didn't care.

Need the extra lighting for safety
That may be true and fair
But just a light bank here and there
Not turn them all on everywhere.

If they had enough common sense
To even cause a sensible spark
You don't burn lights in the daytime
They're made to use when it's dark.

I wonder at home if they try
In anyway at all to save
Or do they turn on the kitchen light
When going to the bathroom to shave.

Then they ask the students to Sell some kind of junk to help the school
Well I don't help those who don't help themselves
That is and will always be my rule.

Instead if that big cannon
Shooting for every touchdown
It should be across town
Shooting all the burglars down.

County Clerk Expresses Thanks

Dear Editor,
After many years in the county clerk's office with the Lord's guidance I made my decision to retire. I want to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to each person that I have worked with in any way. So many of you helped make my job easier and more enjoyable.

I am thankful for having the opportunity to work under William R. Layton and Shelton Moss who taught me so much about life as well as being my mentors.

The friends that I have made and the people I have met and now call friends are forever etched in my heart. My only regret is that we will not be in touch as we have been for so long.

The businesses in and around Garrard County have been wonderful to work with and I wish each of you much success. I have been treated like a friend by each of you and it means so much to me.

To the staff of The Central Record, I appreciate each of you for the years of service to Garrard County and the manner in which you've worked with me and others in the clerk's office.

I thank God most of all. I've been able to serve the citizens of Garrard County in a way that I have loved for so many years. I will miss you all.

Free Tire Disposal

Dear Editor,
The West Nile Virus is once again in the news, with more than twice the number of cases reported this year than in previous years and reaching as far north as New York. The West Nile Virus is carried by mosquitos that first bite infected birds before transmitting the disease to other hosts. One particular species of mosquito, the Asian Tiger Mosquito, is notorious for carrying and transmitting West Nile Virus to humans.

The Asian Tiger Mosquito came to the United States in the 1980's on shipments of waste tires from Japan. Since that time, improperly stored waste tires that are left to collect water have provided the optimal reproductive environment for the Asian Tiger Mosquito. In order to reduce the risk of infection by these vectors, citizens should make sure anything that will allow water to collect and stagnate, especially waste tires, are covered and protected from rainfall.

To assist citizens with the proper disposal of waste tires, the Solid Waste Department has partnered with the Kentucky Division of Waste Management to hold a free tire disposal event on October 11, 12, & 13 at the State Highway Garage on Industry Road. Citizens may bring an unlimited amount of waste tires, on or off the rim, to this event for free disposal. This state/county sponsored amnesty is only held once every three years, so citizens are encouraged to take advantage of this service while it is available. For questions or further information about the tire amnesty event, citizens should call 859-339-3233.

Sincerely,
Chris Thomason
Solid Waste Coordinator

F2F Recognizes Its Supporters

Dear Editor:
Halcomb's Knob Farm wishes to express its sincere thanks to everyone who supported the 2012 Field to Fork Festival (F2F) on July 21. Without the support and assistance from the planning committee members; sponsors; participants; instructors; exhibitors and vendors; volunteers; area media; and city, county and state personnel, F2F would not be a success story. This year, F2F hosted more than 740 participants during this single day festival, with visitors traveling from throughout the United States to take part in this unique agricultural event. Field to Fork Festival is proud to showcase Kentucky's wealth of agricultural resources, producers, and restaurants/cafes to not only the citizens of the Commonwealth but also the individuals who crossed numerous state lines to view first-hand the initiative approach to going green with gardening!

Goodbye Summer

By Connie Coppings

As gardens are being put to rest for the winter and farmers store hay and grain for the approaching winter months, it is time to say good-bye to the summer of 2012. The arrival of cooler air and God’s kaleidoscope of colors puts a little more zip in our steps these days. It’s hard to believe spring is now a distant memory.

Preparing the ground and planting our seeds last spring was done in great anticipation of the abundant yield we would harvest. We all know there is no way to predict what weather we’ll experience during the growing months. This year brought temps over 100 degrees and a lack of moisture, which in turn caused gardens, fields of corn and other crops to be affected. Many of our squash, cucumbers and beans suffered due to the adverse weather conditions.

We were able to gather some vegetables from our garden, although some in limited amounts, and canned anything we could. Crisp green beans, tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, cucumbers, onions, and beets now fill our pantry and freezer. They will make a tasty addition to our family gatherings through the holiday seasons.

Some of my greatest memories of growing up on the farm were when we harvested all the vegetables from our big gardens to enjoy over the winter. Another fall activity I always looked forward to was when they picked the corn and stored it in the corncrib to have as food for the animals when they could no longer find green grass outside to graze. Of course, it was also great fun to get in the corncrib and slide down the mountains of corn-----but you wanted to make sure my dad or uncle didn’t catch you.

Even as a child I was always fascinated by the change of colors in the trees. Today is no different; I still turn into a curious child when the trees begin to don their fall apparel. Did you know that the yellow, red, and orange colors are the normal colors of the leaves?

In the spring and summer, the chlorophyll present in the leaves causes them to turn green. As fall and winter approach, there is no longer a need to make food for the leaves, the chlorophyll disappears and we begin to see the panorama of colors appear. Fall colors are best when late summer is dry and autumn has bright sunny days and cool nights below 40 °F.

My husband and I served the first eight years of our ministry in Western New York. Upon learning we were ‘coming home” to Kentucky, we made a trip to Vermont to see the fall colors. WOW! It was a display of colors that left one speechless.

It is easy to miss the beauty of fall when we think of it as “almost winter,” but there is much to enjoy in this colorful season. Towns all across the United States usher in this season with festivals that offer great family fun. My husband and I love to wander through the crafts, sample the homemade goodies, and meet people from many different places.

I hope this year to introduce my great nieces and nephews to some of this fall fun. Naturally, it wouldn’t be fall without a big pile of leaves to dive into over and over again. Yep, I can sense that “curious kid” within me starting to get an itch for some fall fun. Won’t you take the time to come join me!

Lucky At Lancaster Liquor

- Tommy Naylor, right, recently picked up the 42-inch flat-screen Sanyo TV he won through a drawing at Lancaster Liquors. Store Manager John McCoy, to the left, congratulated Naylor on the prize. Naylor enjoyed a very lucky week, having not only won the flat screen, but having also won $400 playing Pick 3 earlier in the week.

Habitat News

Garrard County Habitat for Humanity now has electric on the job sight. How nice it is to be able to turn on one of those ornery-to-put-together fans when it is so warm on work days. The movement of air at least feels cooler creating a good way to work.

Also, it nice to turn on a light in the rooms that have no windows, like the bathroom. We are able to use our own plugs, rather than stringing the extension cord across the yard to the neighbor’s outdoor plug. It seems no matter how carefully a 50-foot extension cord is rolled up, the next time it is needed, it is in the worst tangle possible.

We were able to install most of the upper wall cabinets in the kitchen one morning. It was a puzzle until we called 84 Lumber for the blueprint cue. That always helps. It is important to have the upper cabinet line up with the base or lower cabinets, especially at the stove and sink areas.

We also have a large portion of the laminate flooring down. It got off to a rocky start but that was made easier with a few hints from the directions. Directions are such a nice way to learn interesting logical techniques. One should always consider them.

Laminates are easy to install and usually less expensive than any other flooring, mostly because that avoids installation costs required by other flooring. Carpeting is heavy and must be cut correctly then stretched into place, which requires a lot of strength and energy. Sheet vinyl is also more expensive as it requires a smooth sub floor of a quarter inch plywood product and then is glued into place. It must be cut to fit and is again heavy to lift around. We have found wood-grain laminates wear well, look great, are easy to clean, are relatively easy to install in not-too-long a time and are not too costly. Of course some are more expensive and certain brands are easier to install than others but overall they meet our needs very nicely. We have a nice feeling of completion as each room is completed.

We are now into the final building stages. We have wire shelving, the driveway and walkways, final grade work, attic insulation and some small final painting, like the exterior of the doors and frames. We hope to complete this home before our construction window runs out in mid-October.

Please call Roberta Keefe at 859-548-2270 to help build.

WKU Chemistry Student Hilary Asberry Does Research At Taiwan

Six Western Kentucky University students have returned from a 10-week summer research experience at the National Chung Hsing University (NCHU) in Taichung, Taiwan.

The students -- Linda Cruz, a Gatton Academy student from Carrollton; John Biechele Speziale, a Gatton Academy student from Grayson; Amy Ni, a junior from Bowling Green; Hilary Asberry, a junior from Lancaster; Elijah Ernst, a senior from Hodgenville; and Justin Wellum, a junior from Louisville -- worked on chemistry and chemical engineering research projects that included using bamboo particles to remove toxic metal ions, electrochemical capacitors and switchable surfaces.

The WKU group worked closely with faculty mentors and students at the Chemical Engineering Department at NCHU. They gave oral presentations twice at NCHU during their stay. They also visited many historic and cultural areas of Taiwan, including Taipei, Kenting National Park and Sun Moon Lake.

The project is funded through a three-year grant from the National Science Foundation’s Office of International Science and Engineering. Students are provided a stipend and airfare through this grant. Because WKU is a sister university with NCHU, NCHU provides WKU students free housing.

Dr. Eric Conte, WKU chemistry professor and the principal investigator, who joined the students for part of their stay, has been collaborating with faculty at the NCHU for the past seven years through these grants. The students will present their results at regional and national meetings in the United States.

Heritage Hospice Seeks Community Support

Heritage Hospice Inc. Veterans Committee is planning its fifth annual Veterans Appreciation Day and looks forward to the community’s continued support.

This year, Veterans Day falls on a Sunday so the event will be held 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 12, at the Danville National Guard Armory.

All veterans in Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer counties are invited to come and bring one guest. The event has grown every year. In 2011, the event had 1,286 veterans registering including 68 veterans who had never attended.

Members of Masonic lodges Franklin No. 28 F&AM, Lancaster No. 104 and Mercer No. 777 cook the fish for the meal and this year will add barbecue to the menu.

Indian Hill Christian Church provides all the desserts. The students at Danville Christian Academy serve the food with the assistance of community leaders.

Members of the planning committee make sure that parking is not a hassle. After parking near Admiral Stadium, veterans are given a ride on golf carts and taken to the armory’s entrance.

Door prizes are given to the veterans and donations are needed. Popular door prizes are gift cards to restaurants, Kroger or Walmart, flashlights, mini-coolers, car items, patriotic hats or items and services from local businesses, such as car washes or haircuts.

Anyone who would like to donate door prizes or financially support this tax-deductible event in 2012 can mail items to: Atten: Veterans Appreciation Day Event, Heritage Hospice, Inc., P.O. Box 1213, Danville, Ky. 40423, bring them to the office at 120 Enterprise Drive in Danville, or call the hospice office at (859) 236-2425.

Hospice Volunteer Will Offer Pet Therapy

By EMILY TOADVINE
etoadvine@heritagehospice.com

For the last eight years, Jenna Gordon's life has been going to the dogs and she loves it.

This Harrodsburg resident focuses on dogs in her personal life as well as a teller at the drive-thru window of Farmers National Bank's Perryville branch.

Customers come through sometimes just to make a withdrawal for their dog because they know she will have a treat for the pet riding along with their owner.

"Some of the regulars want the standard Milk Bone but I have gourmet treats from the Barkery," says the 31-year-old Gordon, who didn't even own a dog until she was 23.

Dogs favoring a Barkery treat may receive pumpkin or apple pie flavor.

On her breaks, she works with dogs, going the extra mile for her customers.

She relies on training she received while working at a veterinary clinic in performing a task most pet owners don't feel comfortable doing.

"Customers come in and I'll trim nails on my lunch break."

After work, she and her husband, Matt, run a pet-sitting business in their home called Special Care for Special Pets. She also volunteers at a local rescue, Hoppers Halfway Home and is currently fostering a dog named Jules.

The remainder of her free time involves working with three of her dogs to bring cheer to the seriously ill. As a Heritage Hospice volunteer, she plans to take her three dogs with her to do pet therapy with patients.

Four-year-old Shelties, Gus and his twin, Biscuit, and her 4-year-old Yorkie, Emma, already have been visiting at James B. Haggin Extended Care for a couple of years. Born at Halloween, Biscuit and Gus have cheered residents at the 34-bed unit with their costumes. One year they were Super Heroes Bat and Superman. Other Jenna Gordon of Harrodsburg poses with the three dogs she plans to use in her pet therapy as a Heritage Hospice volunteer. The Shelties are Gus and Biscuit and Gordon is holding Emma, a Yorkie. Heritage Hospice is planning a volunteer training.

Volunteers Needed

Heritage Hospice is looking for volunteers in Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln and Mercer counties. The next volunteer training is 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 29 at Heritage Hospice, 120 Enterprise Drive. Anyone interested in volunteering can contact Wendy Hel-lard, Director of Volunteer Services, at (859) 236-2425 or email her at whel-lard@heritagehospice.com. Please register by Sept. 20.

years they were a lobster and a dinosaur and Emma buzzed around in a bumblebee costume. One year, the costumed pets played Bingo with residents at McDowell Place as part of a visitation arranged by Gordon's church, Southland Christian Church.

Gordon is very happy and proud of how positively the residents at Haggin responded to her dogs' visits. The face of one man, who did not speak, lit up as he fed the dogs some Cheetos.

"I can still see his smile," says Gordon.

A wonderful thing about taking her peppy friends on visits is that people recall their own pets and tend to be more conversational.

"It seems like talking about pets is the lead in to start talking about so many other things."

With Heritage Hospice patients Gordon hopes to work in Harrodsburg and Danville on Wednesday evenings and Lincoln and Garrard on Saturdays. She wants to take the dogs to visit individuals in their homes.

"It's easier to do one-on-one at a house than at a facility."

Gordon is no stranger to hospice. As a certified nursing assistant for a home health agency, she helped care for hospice patients.

The impetus for getting the dogs into pet therapy is Gordon's extreme love for animals and older patients. "I've just had family in and out of the nursing homes and hospitals," she says.

Getting the dogs ready for their debut into hospice pet therapy required some spiffy new blue jean bandannas. Emma's has her name in pink embroidery thread in the center. The name for the pet therapy, Cold Noses Warm Hearts Heritage Hospice Inc., circles the name in white thread. In between the words Cold Noses and Warm Hearts is a paw print in the shape of a heart in the same color as the dogs' names. Gus and Biscuit's are in more masculine colors with their names in green and blue. Gordon's neighbor, Hazel Glancy, sews the bandannas and Karen Coffman of Mitchellsburg did the embroidery.

Before going to Haggin, the dogs had completed obedience testing and Canine Good Citizen Testing with Cheri Carbone of Danville.

"They'll sit and stay and they'll come good in crowds. Basically there are 10 tests," Gordon says, noting that the latest addition to the Gordon's family, a Jack Russell named Beans, also will take the training.

Even as full as her life is, she was able to squeeze in this extra bundle that fits into the palms of her hands. She and her husband had a huge void in their lives after losing a 16-year-old Jack Russell named Bandit earlier this year. This new adventure is dedicated to Bandit.

Gordon and her husband are in the process of working with Big Brother/Big Sister. One prerequisite for the match: definitely children who are animal lovers.

KSP Looking For Teen Drivers

(FRANKFORT, KY.) —The Kentucky State Police are accepting applications for the 10th Annual 'Drive To Stay Alive' teen driving academy that is planned for Sept. 5 - 9, 2012 at KSP Headquarters in Frankfort.

KSP YouTube 'Drive to Stay Alive' video link: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0J2K5vA-y2M>

"Drive to Stay Alive" is an innovative program targeted directly at teenage drivers. Participants will spend four days learning skills that may save their life including hands-on skills in actual motor vehicle situations combined with classroom studies. KSP utilizes skilled driving instructors that take teen participants through a variety of obstacles while coaching them the correct way to control a vehicle in different driving scenarios. The training includes topics such as collision causation, vehicle dynamics and skid control, backing, multiple turns and lane interchange, safety belts and air bags, evasive maneuvers, off-road recovery, and controlled braking.

Sgt. Saint-Blancard oversees the 'Drive To Stay Alive' academy and attributes the programs' success to the quality of students that participate in the academy.

"The unique aspect about 'Drive to Stay Alive' is that the benefits of the program do not stop once the student completes the course. We have developed a comprehensive curriculum that uses the 'train-the-trainer' type format to spread the safe driving message," says Saint-Blancard.

"After the student has completed the training, we partner them with an experienced Trooper and they work together to provide educational safe driving presentations to other students in their local communities," adds Saint-Blancard.

Saint-Blancard advised that to be eligible for the program, student candidates must meet the following guidelines:

- 16 years of age or older
- Licensed driver
- Good communication skills/leadership traits
- Permission from Principle/School Superintendent to participate (all Kentucky public and private schools are welcome)

Applications for the 'Drive To Stay Alive' program are available on the KSP website. There is no fee for the program but space is limited. The deadline for submitting an application is August 31, 2012.

For more information about 'Drive To Stay Alive', please visit the KSP website at www.kentuckystatepolice.org or contact Ms. Lori Hun-

Inter-County Energy To Sponsor An Honor Flight For World War II

Inter-County Energy and Kentucky's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives have once again joined with the Bluegrass Chapter of the Honor Flight Network to sponsor an Honor Flight on Saturday, Oct. 6 for veterans from Kentucky who served during World War II.

Inter-County Energy and Kentucky's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives are paying to fly 35 vets, including one from each of the 16 owner-member cooperatives of East Kentucky Power Cooperative (EKPC), from Louisville to Washington, D.C.

The veterans will visit the World War II Memorial, the Iwo Jima Monument and the Korean War Veterans Memorial, and will return to Louisville that evening. While in Washington, the veterans will be transported around the city on chartered buses.

Each co-op is sponsoring one veteran from their local service territory to send on the trip. George Garrison, 93 a veteran from Stanford who served in the Army during World War II will be the veteran representing Inter-County Energy.

Volunteers representing the local cooperatives will accompany the vets as guardians to assist them as needed. Along with many other volunteers from the co-ops, Linda Neal, niece of Mr. Garrison will also accompany the group on the Honor Flight trip.

"The veterans we sponsored last year said it was one of the greatest days of their lives," said Sheree Gilliam, VP Member Services at Inter-County Energy. "We owe them so much for risking their lives and enduring so much suffering so that we could enjoy freedom. That's why we are sponsoring this trip for the second year in a row. It's the least we could do as a way of saying 'thank you.'"

The World War II Memorial pays tribute to the 16 million who served in the United States Armed Forces during the war, the 400,000-plus who died and all who supported the war effort on the home front. The memorial is flanked by the Washington Monument to the east and the Lincoln Memorial to the west.

The Korean War Veterans Memorial honors 341,000 soldiers — 88 percent of them from America — who fought to help democratic South Korea repel an invasion by communist North Korea from 1950-1953. Nearly 34,000 U.S. soldiers died in combat during the war.

The Honor Flight sponsored by Kentucky's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives is part of a larger national network that has 106 hubs, or chapters, in 38 states. The inaugural Honor Flight took place in May 2005, when six small planes flew out of Springfield, Ohio, taking 12 veterans. The network was conceived by Earl Morse, a physician assistant and retired Air Force captain, who wanted to honor the veterans he had taken care of.

In May 2008, Southwest Airlines stepped up by donating thousands of tickets, and was named the network's official commercial carrier. The flight sponsored by Inter-County Energy and Kentucky's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives will use Southwest as its carrier.

"As Will Rogers once said, 'We can't all be heroes.' Some of us have to stand on the curb and clap as they go by," said Gilliam. "That's what we're doing to honor these veterans."

Inter-County Energy is one of Kentucky's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives providing electric energy to over 25,500 member/owners in 12 central Kentucky counties. Inter-County Energy celebrated its 75th anniversary in June of this year.

Recreational Vehicles Cannot Be Used As Permanent Dwellings In City Limits

(From Front)

Based on information that came out of an informal meeting held last month with the engineers, elected officials and others involved in the process, Mick asked whether negotiations between GCWA and the City were in progress.

Deshon explained that Bell Engineering and Salt River Engineering were asked to share information so that data could be properly compared before negotiations resume. And according to those involved, that process is not complete. He advised Mick that GCWA made it clear during that informal meeting that included engineers, city and county officials, all the water entities involved, Bluegrass Area Development District, and others, that they were not interested in a long-term agreement, a requirement of the federal government in order for the city to receive more than half of the funding for the estimated $12.1 million plant. He also advised her that they were more interested in the city merging with them concerning water issues, a recommendation made by Salt River's lead engineer, Connie Allen.

Because GCWA buys so much water, more than twice what the city uses, a role reversal is a better business decision, Allen said last month. If the roles were reversed, Rural Development would look at it differently because GCWA would "not be leaning on someone else to generate revenue for [them]."

Mick asked to see a copy of the Salt River study which Councilman Bret Baierlein said he could provide. She was also interested in Bell Engineering's involvement ; whether or not they had actually been contracted to build the new water plant.

"I'm confused about our relationship with them," Mick said.

A call to Bell Wednesday confirmed that Bell does hold the contract on the water plant project and in fact the city paid Bell $30,000 in Nov. 2011 for the preliminary design. However, City Clerk Shari Lane does not have a copy.

No action was taken, only that Mayor Brenda Powers asked Mick to wait.

"You will know everything," Powers said. "We're just not going to do anything right now."

Recreational Vehicles Cannot Be Used As Permanent Dwellings In City Limits

Council members unanimously passed the first reading of an amendment to the nuisance ordinance that addresses extended habitation of recreational vehicles within the city limits. The ordinance states that "no person shall occupy a recreational vehicle, camper or motor home as a residence or permanent living quarter ensconced within the city limits of Lancaster for a period of more than 14 consecutive days." The problem came to the attention of the council a couple of months ago when Mayor Brenda Powers advised the council that calls from residents complaining about the problem had been coming in. Those living in such homes were using utilities from other single-dwelling residences and having issues with waste disposal, she said.

In Other City Business:

Old city trucks, a 2003 S10 and a 1999 F250, were declared surplus property. Crab Orchard is interested in purchasing the S10 pickup and if that falls through, council members decided to put both trucks up for bid next month.

Millard Rose reported that replies from businesses that are required to abide by grease-discharge restrictions have been good. Only one has not replied which "is the same as a violation," Rose said. But for those that comply and tests show they are staying in compliance, the requirements may even be changed from a monthly to a yearly report. "Basically, if they do a good job, I'm not going to bother them," Rose added.

Meetings were scheduled for the ordinance committee and the tax, revenue and grants committee on Sept. 11, the first to begin at 6:30 p.m. and the second at 7:30 p.m., respectively.

Police Department:

A citizen and volunteer fireman, Ronnie Barnes, addressed the council to thank the police department for their effort in finding his utility trailer. "Chief Kidd and [Tim]Royce took the information from me and actually investigated," Barnes said. Barnes said he wanted to let the councilmen know the police are doing a good job. "They didn't just stick it in a drawer and forget about it," Barnes said.

Chief of Police Rodney Kidd reported that his new policies and procedures manual will be implemented on Oct. 1 and 15 copies will be printed initially at a cost of $257.

Kidd also reported that Garrard County High School will be providing a half-day intern who will be in the office to answer phones at no cost to the city. The Chief is still looking for unpaid interns who would be interested in covering the remaining half day each week.

Kidd asked council members to look into the possibility of returning to a rotating fleet replacement plan that would keep the department in warrantied vehicles and a consistent payment plan. The plan he presented would be a five-year plan to replace eight cruisers at a cost of $41,000 a year. The plan does include all additional equipment.

The police department's August activity report consisted of 20 accidents, 16 alarms, six domestic disputes, 47 reckless driving calls, 12 thefts, two welfare checks, and 234 general complaints of the total 547 calls for service during the month. Lancaster police hosted 28 visitors during the month, as well.

Fire Department:

Fire Chief Richard Sebastian asked council members how they wanted to handle engine 3, explaining that he needed to either put it up for bid or find a place to store it. Right now he has three offers that would bring in between $20,000 and 25,000, but a dilemma of sorts faces the city's fire department due to the fact that engine 2 is very difficult to get parts for since the company that made it has disbanded. Keeping the engine could benefit the community in the long run especially when the new road is built but until then, building a station near Pleasant Retreat could affect insurance ratings.

Sebastian reported his department's activity for August as two house fires, three alarms, three EMS assistance runs, four smoke investigations, five lock-outs, two natural-gas leaks, one vehicle accident, two carbon-monoxide runs and one cat rescue. Chief Sebastian also performed two safety programs for school children.

In New Business:

Grant applications are due on Oct. 1. For more information call City Hall, 792-2241.

Council members agreed to allow the Garrard County Chamber of Commerce to move next door and out of the office the organization currently holds in the Billy C. Moss Municipal Center. The Chamber is located in an old maintenance closet that is lead based and does not allow for proper cell-phone use. The next office would need some repairs that Councilmember Mick said Chamber board members are not opposed to taking on.

Powers asked for volunteers to attend a meeting to discuss issues surfacing with Jaycees Ball Park. Mike Sutton and Chris Davis agreed to attend.

Accidental Overdose

A woman found dead on her front porch in mid-July died from an accidental drug overdose, according to Garrard County Coroner Daryl Hodge.

Hodge revealed the findings Wednesday morning after final toxicology reports gave investigators the information they needed to close the case and report to the woman's family.

Angela Salata, 47, 117 Ridgecrest Drive, was found a couple of days after she died by her sister during a summer heat wave that took temperatures soaring in the hundreds. That alone caused premature decomposition of her body making it difficult to determine whether or not there had been foul play. But preliminary autopsy results did clarify that there had been no trauma. The next step was toxicology.

Salata had a combination of pills and alcohol in her system, which, according to Hodge, is a "common killer combination." She suffered from lupus.

Although Barnes and Coleman both admitted to being at Martin's home, they did not admit to the shooting and a weapon has not been recovered.

Still Graham said the evidence at the residence speaks for itself. Fresh gunshots, five or six, were discovered in the garage door and close by, along with the witnesses who all told the same story, Graham said. The two were together. They arrived in a red pickup and they left together. The red pickup was parked in Barnes' garage when police arrived but the couple was not there. They showed up in a blue Jeep Liberty with Coleman in the driver's seat.

The incident gave the police the right to search Barnes' residence and vehicles. They found some synthetic cannabis and a marijuana roach but nothing related to the incident other than the fact that the pickup had been recently driven. Drug charges are pending, Graham said.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for today, Sept. 6, at 1 p.m.

Barnes is scheduled for trial on the meth and burglary charges on Sept. 17 at 8:30 a.m., along with co-defendants, Brett Martin (Garnet Martin's son) and Travis Puckett.

Meth Lab Discovered

(From Front)

Kennedy Bridge Road at the entrance to Daughter's Park, had been making meth.

Mitchell Surber is charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and unlawful possession of meth precursors, both first offenses, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Katrina Surber is charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, also her first offense, and with unlawful possession of meth precursors, her second or greater offense.

Conley said that the warrant being served on Katrina Surber was for a probation violation on a Mercer County felony conviction that is carrying no bond. A judge has set bond at $25,000 in cash for her new meth case.

Mitchell Surber's bond has been set at $10,000 in cash.

This is not Katrina Surber's first brush with the law for cooking meth. In April 2008, police entered her home in Daughter's Park to find meth precursors and finished product. Although no one was home at the time, the odor emanating from the mobile home was enough for Deputy Tim Davis to secure a warrant. Court records do not show that she was ever charged in that case. But the Mercer County warrant served by Conley last week goes back to a May 2009 case for unlawful possession of meth precursors and other drug charges, all felony offenses.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for today, Sept. 6.

The Break-Ins

(From Front)

to gain entry to Ron's Tobacco but only caused minimal damage to the door and window.

"The LPD is currently pursuing leads as to those who might be responsible for these grievous crimes against the community," Lancaster Police Chief Rodney Kidd said.

The break-ins echo several thefts in the past few months, with similar break-ins occurring at Carter Printing and Hasty's Grocery within the last six-months.

"I'm have no idea now how many times that makes. I've lost track," E.J. Hasty, the owner of Hasty's Grocery said. "I just still do the same as I did before it happened though."

Though Hasty's spirits aren't dampened by the recent thefts, there is a much different story at Carter printing, where Robert Carter lost more than 15 years of his life's work.

Thieves gained entry through the back door, where a 600-pound machine was blocking entry. Two old Macintosh computers were taken, containing much of the programming and files that Carter relied upon as the crux of his business. "I'm at a standstill right now," Carter said. "It has stopped me dead in my tracks. There are 15 years of design work that took me hours and thousands of files that are just gone. But the community and my friends throughout the area are helping me out to try to get back on my feet."

A local computer repair and networking business, KUDU systems, is providing Carter with an older model Macintosh to get up and running again.

"Our digital printer was also banged up pretty good. I guess they realized that they couldn't get that out of here in a timely manner," Carter added. "The Lord says that everything works out in the end for those that believe in him, so in the end it might be for the best. Even though this is a theft in the long run it will help to get me more modernized. Instead of worrying about all of those years of work, I'll just get it all started up again."

Police Department Gets Funding For Body Armor And Patrol Rifles

lifetime of body armor is only five years as well. So every five years we have to replace that to keep our officers safe."

Kidd also said that the patrol rifles were a much needed upgrade.

"It puts us on an equal footing with today's criminal," Kidd said. "Today's criminals all have assault weapons and they can use those against us at long distances that our shotguns just couldn't reach. This keeps our officers at a more suitable distance and still have fire power to protect innocent citizens."

Under LEPP, administered by the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security (KOHS), appropriate agencies can seek financial help for certain defensive items essential in the course of their duties.

"Not only do LEPP grants help protect our law enforcement officers, they also increase community and citizen safety," Gov. Beshear said. "I'm proud that we have these funds available to benefit all Kentuckians."

In conjunction with the Kentucky State Police (KSP),

KOHS derives income from sales of confiscated weapons. KSP conducts periodic auctions – only to federally licensed firearms dealers – which generate dollars for the LEPP initiative. KOHS then assesses needs and, after prioritization, provides whatever funds are available in the acquisition of body armor, weapons, ammunition and electronic or muscular disruption technical devices often referred to as Tasers.

"Many city and country governments as well as public universities face limited funding in trying to meet the increasing costs and requirements for their law enforcement officers," said KOHS Executive Director Gene Kiser. "We try to help, in some measure, with these grants to provide basic protective equipment."

LEPP support goes to police agencies of cities, counties, charter counties, unified counties, urban-counties and consolidated local governments, sheriff's departments and public university police departments.

GARRETT CAUDILL - The Garrard County senior is a real throwback to the old days. He may be one of the few straight on kickers left in the game and he has worked to turn himself into a pretty decent kicker. I can't remember the last time Garrard kicked two field goals in a game. And you have to like those high top black shoes. Looks like what we wore back in the 60s.

UK FOOTBALL - The Wildcat offense was not that bad Saturday but the UK defense was terrible. Unless something happens and happens quick it is going to be a very long season. It is hard to see more than three wins. It is a good thing Joker is good friends with Charlie Strong at U of L. Most coaches would have beaten the Cats by 40 or 50 points. Charlie really took it easy on his buddy. Joker made a big deal out of the offense driving the ball 98 yards in the last pre-season scrimmage. I'm not so sure Louisville Trinity or Ft. Thomas Highlands couldn't drive the ball 98 yards against this UK defense. I know it is only one game but man it was ugly. Joker has to go.

Lions Win Big On Homecoming

By Danny Elam

delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County used a strong ground game and a smothering defense Friday night at Dyehouse Stadium to send the old grads home happy with a 35-14 Homecoming win over Lloyd Memorial.

The Golden Lions held the Juggernauts to just one yard in total offense in the first half as Garrard led 21-0 at the break with senior Garrett Caudill accounting for all 21 Golden Lion points.

The Lions got on the board on their second possession. Freshman Mike Redmon made a great 36 yard diving catch of a Billy Abney pass at the Memorial three yard line and Caudill scored his first touchdown on a one yard plunge.

The next time the Lions got the ball they marched 72 yards using 12 plays with Caudill scoring from four yards out. This time Caudill ran in the conversion for a 15-0 Garrard lead with 7:05 to play in the half.

Caudill converted on field goals from 28 and 36 yards out to round out the Garrard scoring in the first half.

The 36 yarder came as time ran out and after Layne Cumby recovered a muffed Memorial punt at the Juggernaut 24 yard line.

Memorial got the ball to start the second half and it got off to a ragged start with penalties being called on four of the first six plays (two on each team).

The Juggernauts took advantage and went 70 yard to score with the final 37 yards coming on a Dexter Smith to Jared Gabbard touchdown pass but that was Memorial's only sustained drive of the game.

The Lions got the ball at the Memorial 37 yard line on downs late in the third quarter and Cumby scored on a one yard run with 44 seconds left in the half but Memorial's Akintomide Mejolagbe returned the ensuing kickoff 86 yards untouched to cut Garrard's lead back to 14 points at 28-14.

After taking over on the next possession at its own 31 yard line the Lions the Lions went 69 yards in 14 plays while taking almost six and a half minutes off the clock to ice the win on a Cumby seven yard run.

Garrard had 291 yards, 229 on the ground, to only 72 total yards for Lloyd Memorial. Williams ran for 128 yards on 27 carries.

Lincoln Comes To Town For Border War

By Danny Elam

delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

When neighboring Lincoln County comes calling at Dyehouse Stadium this week you can expect a close, hard fought game between the two rivals You can also expect a Patriot team that is on the rise after a 53-0 win over Washington County last Friday night.

Lincoln (2-1) totally dominated the Commanders while bouncing back from a Bob Allen Bowl loss to Danville.

The Patriot defense held Washington County to only 63 total yards of offense while the Pats racked up 364 yards in Lincoln's first shut-out since 2007.

Junior quarterback Dustin Hubble leads the Lincoln offense. Against Washington County he threw touchdown passes of 27 and 56 yards, both to senior Austin Cress.

Junior Deonte Coulter ran for over 100 yards in the win and senior Logan Martin is also a nice runner.

Lineman Logan Smith returned a fumble 63 yards for a Lincoln score.

Garrard is also coming off a strong defensive performance where the Golden Lions held Lloyd Memorial to only 72 total yards while the Garrard offense racked up 291 yards.

Garrard will be without sophomore linebacker Justin Sparks who left the Lloyd Memorial game with what was reportedly a broken leg.

Lions Blanked At Boyle

Garrard County dropped a 10-0 decision last Thursday night at Boyle County in a contest where Lion coach Kevin Green felt his team's youth really showed.

"We played hard but I can't stress enough how hard it is for freshmen to play," he said. "Boyle County is a great team and you can't take anything away from them."

Garrard County trailed only 2-0 at intermission but the Rebels exploded for eight second half goals to end the game with 3:20 remaining to play.

Kyle Settle had three goals for the Rebels with Evan McCann, Jonathan Stephens and Ethan Edwards each scoring twice.

Garrard best scoring opportunity came early in the second period when Barry Rich was fouled in the box but his penalty kick attempt was turned away by the Boyle keeper.

Boyle (2-4) outshot Garrard (0-4) 32-6 and despite the final score Green felt that Garrard keeper Brandon Shuey turned in an excellent game in goal for the Lions.

Church & Community Ophelia Searcy	85 Or More Attend Annual Labor Day Picnic

Praise God from whom all blessings flow. Praise His holy name.

Good Monday morning, September 3, 2012 to our relatives friends, neighbors and readers. Hope you and yours are well and happy and thankful for the rain we have gotten. Our gracious father showers the just as well as the unjust with just what we need when we need it. Thank you, thank you Lord Jesus for the rain the last three days.

Our family and friends Sunday were most beautiful. We're thankful to all of you for such a spirit filled day. We had a packed house. Our special guest was Rev. Freddie Brown (our pastor's uncle), pastor of State Street Baptist Church, Bowling Green. He brought many folks with him. We had a spirited service, plenty of good food and good fellowship. Again thanks to all of you that helped make the day a success. You are welcome to worship with us anytime.

We had a good day at church Sunday, September 2. Pastor Brown delivered a good sermon from John 1: 1-15. Subject: "The External Word." Points : God's word lives forever. There are things in our life we don't seem able to shake off but God

Stringtown News Mildred McCollum	Went On Ocean Cruise But Didn't See Anything Due to Weather
---	--

Hi to all family, friends and neighbors. How is it with you and your family. I hope all is well.

We have had some hot days but we are blessed again. They are having a time in some of the other places.

My nephew Darrell Lamb and wife Hallie went on a cruise and got on a big ship and it got so bad on the ocean they had to stay on the ship and didn't get to see anything, only big waves. Couldn't get on plane for a while when it was time to start home. I thank my blessed Lord for them getting home. They could have not gotten back but Jesus took care of them and I thank him.

Our visitors Sunday were Donald Baker, James & Irene Lamb., Edward & Genevieve Lamb, Irene Nunn and Conner Bryant.

Paint Lick News Katie Rollins	The "Gathering" Was A Huge Success
--	---

Hello Readers.
It's a muggy Monday evening here in Paint Lick and I believe that more rain is on the way..from the looks of the night sky. Wasn't the showers so welcomed on Sunday with even some rumbling thunder and this area got around two inches...very much needed...as it has been so dry. I feel guilty whenever I say we need the rain when the coastal states are flooded and everything wiped away because of tropical storm, Isaac. My thoughts are with them all as they recover once again...and they will.

The "Gathering" on August 29 was a huge success and I got to see so many people whom I wouldn't normally be with if it wasn't for something of this nature. Ms. Sandy Bowling, a longtime friend and Doug's cousin came all the way from Danville and it was good to see Danny and Amy Ray just sitting and enjoying the evening.... Danny is usually working on the old barbershop which once belonged to Earl Nave. People are getting together more in this little village and I am it's a joyous sight to see so many doing stuff. The old restaurant is looking better...I don't know yet who is doing what with that project but I do know I am happy to see it being cleaned up from the fire which took the old grocery can. He takes pleasure in blessing us. We were together. We were happy to have De Jia Marshall.

Our church will worship with Cedar Ridge Baptist Church September 9th. Rev. Gerald Robinson, pastor. September 16 we will worship with Pleasant Valley Baptist Church, Boones Creek Baptist Church. Rev. Stacy Brown, pastor. We are looking forward to these invitations. Community Women's Conference will meet on September 22, 2012 at First Baptist Church, Richmond. Music will be provided by various churches in the community. Guest speaker will be Dr. Janice Blythe. It will begin at 1 pm. Rev. Robert Blythe is host pastor. You are invited to share with us.

Eighty five or more enjoyed the annual Labor Day picnic given by Kenneth, Joan and family. Many new folks were present and plenty, plenty good food. We are most grateful and thankful for a great day.

Mrs. Mamie Petty and daughter Marilyn from Indianapolis spent the weekend with Mamie's niece Annette Jenkins for the sorghum festival in Georgetown. They all attended the Labor Day picnic at the Andersons. That's all until next time.

Wednesday.

Please pray for Debbie Pingleton who is very sick in a Lexington hospital. She needs our prayers and help from the Lord. She has been over there for weeks.

Our Brayden is planning on visiting his grandmother Irene Nunn.

Thank you Ann Hounshell for my get well card.

Hi Venessa Cheek and Debbie Coffee.

It was nice to talk to you Louise Greiner when you called the other day.

Hi Opal Lamb

Please remember our darling boys and girls who are trying to help us. It is so sad for them and their families. They need our prayers.

Pray for the sick. So many are sick.

God bless one and all.

store down over two years back. Slowly, progress is making a change in Paint Lick...a good change. Three-Fold- Meats is doing O.K. too. I didn't get a chance to visit last week because of canning beans, but I did find some bargains when I did go. He now has big brown country eggs from a local market and they are really a big hit but I'll have to say, the bacon is the best I've eaten. Stop by and see Doug Floyd or his worker at Paint Lick's "meat shoppe", Monday through Saturday and he opens at 10 am with a phone # 925-2172.

My family (Alexanders) gathered at the Cracker Barrel in Berea on Aug. 25 for a big wonderful birthday surprise for my sister Peggy who has reached made another field goal in her life of 79 years. It was so good to see us all together for something this special. Happy birthday, Peg.

Then, just this Labor Day, we all met once again at the Irvine McDowell Park in Richmond for a small reunion of sorts and I was thrilled to see my niece Cindy F. Little, her son Corey and her small but precious daughter Courtney. It seems like forever since I've seen Cindy and she looked good. My church sister, Betty Alexander, Dora Bowles, Gayle Adams and I all traveled together for this joyous event.

Time is passing so fast and yesterday is gone before I can remember and it was a good day for us all. Mark, Scott, Peggy, Bernice, Linda, Eva. Melanie and Johnny, Bobby, Angie and 'Block' B.J., Sandy, Sarah, and Matt were among the oldies but goodies who came to the park this Labor Day.

I do have to mention the wonderful day spent with Deborah Messenger in Winchester last Wednesday. It was very relaxing and we just made a day out of doing nothing....and we did eat at a small place called Gaunce's and it was similar to our Panera Bread at the Richmond Center., but so bright and more open to lots of light and a great atmosphere. The drive on our way home was country and no I-75. Breathable. Thank You Deborah for a good day.

Nina Ridge/Hackley Freda Johnson	Much Needed Good Rain
---	------------------------------

Hello again.

Where did the year go? Time goes by so fast that I can't keep up. I don't know what year it is half the time.

I had a very good birthday though. Steve and Melanie invited me to their house for a cook-out. They had chicken cooked on the grill and corn on the cob, salad and baked potatoes. It certainly was good. All my grandkids and great-grandkids were there, Sarah & Eric, Andrew & Erin, Hope Saylor, Abby Moore and Erin's Mother Lisa.

We've had a much needed good rain. I am thankful for that and I know all the farmers are.

There is not much farming left. It's so sad to drive down the road and see all the barns and fields unused and equipment setting idle. There are a few that have tobacco but the weather is a factor in how it does and that is something we can't control. God is in control of that.

I had quite a few people respond to the ad on the radio about the store. Thanks to everyone that has. I don't know how many people have asked if the country pickers have been here. No they haven't and I don't think they will.

Pray for our nation and leaders and all the sick.

God bless all.

neighborhood. Bev and Kenny and they are in need of household and furniture items and probably some bed linens and towels. If You would like to help this family get started in the Happy Landing home, please contact me at home # 925-2203. If you cannot reach me, I'll be in the garden or outside, but I will return your call. Any donation will be put to good use and much appreciated.

Paint Lick's VillageFest is scheduled for Oct 6, Mark your calendar to come and join us that day. We will begin at 9 a.m. You can call us here at Friends for information about what is happening on this 24th year of Paint Lick's annual day.

The Paint Lick Family Clinic will be closed Friday, September 14th.

May God Bless.

More From Steve

Hello friends and neighbors on Nina and all areas of Garrard and to everyone who takes the paper.

Hope everyone in this area realizes how they are blessed far as weather goes. Just when it starts to look dry the rain comes just in time. Seems like somewhere there is an extreme occurrence. There are droughts, floods, storms of all kinds. Hurricane Isaac came exactly seven years to the day since Katrina hit Louisiana and hit about as hard only further down the coast.

The Midwest is having the worst drought in over 50 years and is said to be the worst ever.

I think we are seeing signs of the type that are mentioned in the Bible at least it seems very evident to me.

The news is a horror story.. People have gone crazy. The constant threat of war lingers over our head like a bad dream you can't wake up from.

Iran would like to destroy Israel and the world would be next. We are in the worst economy worldwide that has ever been known. There is absolutely no doubt we are living in perilous times that are to pre-date the return of Christ. Hope we are smart enough to realize he is in control. Our faith may increase in these times.

Town & Country Mary G. Dunn	What Will Happen To Joker

We did not get the rain we expected after all the talk.

UK football lost again. What will happen to Joker? The athletic director said he will not go anywhere. That was last year. If you do not win games you will not stay at UK.

Some are losing games and some are winning.

I am sorry Garrard County lost its first game of the season. Last year they had a very small team in size but I thought they were pretty good.

I enjoyed the band at Garrard High School under the direction of McKay. It was great. They travelled everywhere.

Labor Day was a beautiful day at the farm of Kenneth and Jo Ann Anderson. The day was lovely with about 300 in attendance with lots of pretty children having a good time. LaDonna and Val were in charge of the little kids playing games.

Mt. Hebron News Doris Baker	Happy Birthday Joe

Hi Folks.

After a long, hot summer the rain came on the eve of Labor Day. The weatherman keeps saying that the end of Isaac could bring us a tornado etc. I surely hope not. I feel so bad about all the damage and heartaches that have been to the southern states. So far as of Labor Day arrived we got only a few showers.

Happy birthday to my only brother Joe Barker. I did have four brothers. Now only him who I love very much.

Our garden is almost gone and I will really miss tomatoes.

Me and Husband have been dusting our house. It is a big job. I do some every day then I have to stop. My many back surgeries say stop and I do.

We did go to Garrard County's football game Friday night. They won big time which made us very proud but our next game will be against Lincoln County. I hope we win, It is a home game.

Our neighbors Vernon and Virginia are both ill. Vernon is in the hospital in Danville. So far Virginia is at home. She too is having problems with her health. I send my love to them.

I broke my glasses Saturday night. The frames came apart. I'm now wearing one of my hus-

There were shots fired last Wednesday night on Lock 8 Road very near us in Mt. Hebron. Two people have been arrested, the reason why has not been told but it's a very scary thing. This is a very great place to live. It means a lot to me.. I was born in Mt. Hebron. It is a very nice place. I hope the problem gets settled before long.

Our little great-granddaughter Morgan, the daughter of Breah Hensley Sebastian and Billy Sebastian last week fell out of her bed accidentally resulting in breaking her breastbone. She is having a lot of pain. She is wearing a sling and will be some time getting well. She only weighed 1 lb 3 oz. She is going to a school for children like her that have problems. She really likes it but will miss some due to her accident.

Kentucky Afield Outdoors:

Cautiously Optimistic About Dove Season, Despite The Brown Grass And Hard Ground

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The crisp early morning and earlier nightfall remind Kentuckians that fall isn't far away. The smell of gunpowder, the clunking of spent shotshells in a vest and dove breasts wrapped in bacon and grilled aren't far away either. It is a hunter's favorite time of year.

Dove season opens statewide Sat., Sept. 1. Although brown, crunchy moisture-free grass and cracked brick ground cover large swaths of Kentucky, the drought won't ruin the dove opener.

"There are plenty of doves around Kentucky," said Rocky Pritchert, migratory bird coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "It's a mixed bag. Some dove fields are looking good while some were affected by the drought."

The Purchase Region is the area of Kentucky hardest hit by drought, but dove field conditions, contrary to what common sense dictates, are in hunttable shape.

"As far as the dove fields in our region, they got off to a slow start and the plants stunted a little," said Tony Black, Purchase Region wildlife regional coordinator for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The sunflower and millet still headed out with pretty decent seed content in them. It is not too bad considering how dry we've been. On average, the counties in our region are 12 to 13 inches below normal rainfall for the year."

Hunters who put in a little time scouting before hunting a particular field place themselves at an advantage. "Pull out the dove hunting guide and go and look at the public fields before you hunt them," Pritchert said. "If you plan to hunt a private field or your traditional dove spot, you still need to scout this year. You still need to see if an area holds any birds."

The field you plan hunting could be laden with doves on opening day. If you don't pick a good spot in that field, however, your hunting vest may weigh less at the end of the day than at the beginning because you've spent your shotshells and have few doves.

"The first thing I look for when setting up in a dove field is a dead tree or snag," Pritchert said. "Then, I look for the flight patterns of the doves. Survey where they enter the field and where they exit. Find the entry spot and set up near there. It is better to find a place where they enter the field than where they exit."

Doves often fly into a field through gaps in trees or a swale in the ground.

"A dead tree that is in one of these flight patterns is a great spot," Pritchert said. "They often land in dead trees before entering the field to feed."

Doves also use power lines for the same purpose. Studying these features and setting up near them makes for a much more eventful day. A poorly chosen spot in a good field leads to frustration when others down all of the doves. It is like watching someone from the opposite end of the boat catch all of the fish. Study and choose wisely.

Hunters also need to think on their feet and adjust after opening day this year because of the dry weather.

Black recently witnessed farmers cutting silage and harvesting corn in the Purchase region. Pritchert observed the same in the Bluegrass Region.

"I'm beginning to see silage cut here in central Kentucky," Pritchert explained. "It is a little earlier than usual because of the early spring and drought. Doves will likely scatter from a hunted field more quickly this year because there are too many other food options for them."

This year, flexibility in choosing your dove hunting areas after opening weekend extends your hunting season.

"I hunt doves where I can find them," Pritchert said. "I'll hunt silage fields and fallow fields covered in fox-tail."

Hunters can also stretch the dove season by quitting earlier in the day.

"Landowners who have those longer dove shoots well into the season manage the shooting pressure on their fields," Pritchert said. "Keep the pressure down at the beginning of the season. Skip a week between shoots and get out of the field earlier in the day, by 6 p.m. at the latest. The more time in the evening the doves have to feed undisturbed, the better."

Pritchert also warned those hunting with dogs must realize they overheat easily in early September. "Watch your dog closely and give them plenty of water and rest," he said. "This is one of the most dangerous times for dogs for heat stroke."

Wear drab clothing while dove hunting. Camouflage clothing is best, but tans and greens also work. Avoid white tee shirts and loudly colored shorts.

The first segment of the dove season closes Oct. 24. The second segment runs from Nov. 22 through Nov. 30, while the third segment of the season opens Dec. 29, 2012 and closes Jan. 4, 2013.

"Those late season hunts can be really good," Black said. "You have those northern migrating birds coming down. You can walk them up just like quail in a corn field and have some good hunting."

The daily limit is 15 doves. Author Lee McClellan is an award-winning associate editor for Kentucky

Afield magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He is a life-long hunter and angler, with a passion for small-mouth bass fishing.

You are invited to join the fun! Please help us celebrate the League's 11 years of improving and maintaining the health, safety and beauty of Herrington Lake! This fun day of golf for you and your friends will help the League continue its important work.

There will be two flights again this year:
The tournament flight will be playing for cash... cold, hard cash! Each two man team must have a combined handicap of at least twelve. Cards need to be provided.

The recreational flight will be playing for fun and prizes! We have some great new prizes for you this year! Each four man team will play in a traditional scramble.

To register, call Linda Alexander: 859-548-2257, or Beth Boursaw: 859-748-8557. Reservation deadline is September 17, so call all your golfing friends and challenge them to play at the Herrington Lake Conservation League Golf Outing.

And, of course, LUNCH!

The official gourmet lunch of pulled pork and hot dogs, with all the trimmings and sides will be served all afternoon, and is included in your registration.

It is also not too late to sponsor a hole. For more information go to www.hlcl.org.

Now eleven years old, the Herrington Lake Conservation League is the only organization chartered to clean up Herrington Lake and keep it that way.

Originally founded by a group of concerned homeowners, the Herrington Lake Conservation League has collected and removed hundreds of tons of manmade debris and thousands of tons of natural debris from the waters and banks of this now beautiful lake.

The primary goal of the HLCL is to raise money to finance a permanent work crew to sweep the banks and waters, and to appropriately dispose of the debris. This golf outing is one of our major, yearly, fund raising activities, so please give us a call and join the fun! Support the Herrington Lake Conservation League.

An Encouraging Word

Compelling Forces In Life

By Howard Coop

Do you remember Friday evening, March 3, 1967?

That ordinary day, forty-five years ago, had ended; not much out of the ordinary had happened that day. The evening, for most of us, was quiet and peaceful. After a routine day, many of us were at home relaxing in front of an old small screen black and white television while watching an episode entitled "The Show Must Go On" of GOMER PYLE, U. S. M. C. That show, featuring Jim Neighbors as Gomer Pyle, was very popular, and almost everyone adored Gomer, a naïve and somewhat inept country boy who had joined the Marine Corps.

Near the end of that episode, many of us, I am sure, were totally surprised by a powerful and moving scene. Gomer began singing, in an unusual voice we did not know the country boy possessed, a song entitled "The Impossible Dream." Because of Gomer's performance in that scene, the song, written a year earlier by Joe Darion, became a popular hit.

From childhood, some of us were reminded by both good parents and good teachers that excessive daydreaming was not acceptable. We were told in no uncertain terms that we should, as Rudyard Kipling wrote, "dream, but not make dreams" our "master." "The Impossible Dream" is a powerful reminder that, at all times, we should dream, that is, aim at, and strive for, the highest and the best. Great aspirations, high hopes, noble ambitions, and lofty ideals should be, and are, compelling forces in life that lead to real accomplishment and successful living. Therefore, they are tremendously important.

The idea expressed in "The Impossible Dream" is not new; it goes back to times long past. Many years ago while studying English literature as a sophomore in college, I underlined some words in a poem written by Robert Browning, a nineteenth century English poet. As a guiding principle, those words are still with me: "Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for."

Tensia and Hal Bastin with a friend in Mexico June, 1987.
